ABOUT PRODUCT PROFILE

In India, the Ayurveda system is one of the most ancient systems of safe medicine. So, Dr. Daniel has developed an exclusive section of Ayurvedic products.

Ayurveda is a healing science with a holistic approach towards health and personalized medicine. It is a complete medical system that comprises physical, psychological, philosophical, ethical, and spiritual health. Ayurveda is considered a mainstream health care facility, starting from the cause of the disease (Nidana) to its pathogenesis (Samprap) based on five subsets known as Panchanidana. The disease process (Rogavijnan) and treatment module (Chikitsa Siddhanta) covers a whole gamut of prevailing diseases. In Ayurveda, each cell is considered to be inherently an essential expression of pure intelligence hence called self-healing science. Interestingly, Ayurveda has the ability to treat many chronic diseases such as diabetes and arthritis, which are untreatable through modern medicines. Several drugs have been developed and practiced from Ayurveda since ancient times to modern practice, so now Ayurvedic products have become 'tradition to trend' in the current health industry.

According to the WHO, about 70-80% of the world's population rely on non-conventional medicines mainly of herbal sources in their healthcare. However, the popularity of Ayurveda is rather less as the majority of the global population prefers modern medicines because of its ability to give fast relief from diseases as compared to Ayurvedic treatment. Recently, the public showed interest in the treatment with complementary and alternative medicine mainly due to increased side effects from synthetic drugs, high cost of healthcare & new drugs, lack of curative treatment for several chronic diseases, microbial resistance and emerging lifestyle disorders & diseases, etc. which compelled an increasingly large number of people to seek alternatives like Ayurveda & Yoga.

Dr. Daniel products are made from the latest green technology of extract on without losing naturally occurring bioactive compounds. So, we formulated basic products with extracts to enhance its bioavailability and providing specific health benefits. We care for our consumers, so our Research and Development team is always concerned with quality control as well as the safety parameters of products. That is why, Dr. Daniel Lab is known for its quality and innovative products for consumers.
